Day 02 – Day 06 Goa

Palolem Beach

Goa

The legendary beach destination of South Asia is a heady mix of long sweeping beaches, "sosegado" or a laid back lifestyle and carnival-like nightlife fuelled by very relaxed attitudes and a very Western outlook due to Goa's Portuguese past.

At the outset it is important to decide which part of Goa you wish to stay. Head to North Goa for legendary nightlife, bars and restaurants lining the streets and beaches with a cosmopolitan mix of holidaymakers. Famous beaches of North Goa include Candolim, Calangute and Anjuna.

South Goa is very much the place for luxury resort hotels and quiet relaxation on long, sandy uncrowded beaches such as Varca and Colva.

The cuisine in Goa is exceptional. Dishes include local crab, fresh oyster, king prawns and typical Goan delicacies like Chicken Rechão and Xãcuti. The local brews, like cashew and coconut "Feni" with their strong aroma, are definitely not for the faint of heart. If you visit in the right season, you can sample the local "Urak", a lighter and sweeter-smelling distillate of Feni.

Day 07 – Badami

Cave No1 At Badami

Badami

Badami lies at the foot of a rugged, red sandstone outcrop that surrounds Agastya Tirtha lake on three sides. Once the capital of the Chalukyas, Badami is best known today for its rock-cut cave temples. The caves, sculpted in the 6th and 7th centuries, depict Hindu, Buddhist and Jain iconography. Cave 1 is devoted to Shiva, Caves 2 and 3 are dedicated to Vishnu, and Cave 4 displays reliefs of Jain Tirthankaras. A natural cave nearby is dedicated to the Buddha. Carvings of Hindu Gods are strewn across the area in other caverns and on boulders.

Day 08 – Hampi

Pattadakal

Pattadakal

Pattadakal is a World Heritage Site in Karnataka famous for its unique group of 8th century monuments that display both the Dravidian and the Northern (Indo-Aryan) styles of temple architecture. There are ten temples including a Jain sanctuary surrounded by numerous small shrines and plinths. Four temples were each built in Dravidian and Northern Indian styles and the Papanatha Temple in mixed style.

Aihole

Aihole, the first capital of the early Chalukyas, is famous as the "Cradle Of Indian Architecture". Aihole has over a hundred temples scattered around the village, many of which are of historical importance.

The oldest temple here is the Lad Khan Temple dating back to the 5th Century. The Durga Temple is notable for its semi-circular apse, elevated plinth and the gallery that encircles the sanctum. The Hutchimali Temple out in the village - has a sculpture of Vishnu sitting atop a large cobra. The Revalphadi Cave - dedicated to Shiva - is remarkable for its delicate details.

Day 09 – Hampi

Sunset Over Hampi

Hampi

Hampi was the former capital of the great Vijayanagara Hindu Empire in the Deccan Plateau. In its heyday it was a fairytale city with many temples, palaces and the most beautiful of mansions. The remains of the capital, its many temples are one of the most impressive sights in Karnataka State.

The rocky landscape with its winding river in the middle of nowhere hide the ruins of the UNESCO World Heritage Vittala Temple Complex with its famous stone chariot, many pillars and lovely smelling jasmine trees.

Day 10 – Day 13 Goa*Sunset Over Goa*Goa

Apart from relaxing on its beaches, Goa offers a great variety of activities. The state capital of Panaji is a very pretty town with Portuguese style colonial buildings and a lovely riverside promenade along the Mandovi River. There is also the World Heritage Site of Velha Goa (Old Goa) with huge churches such as Se Cathedral and St. Francis Of Assisi.

Watersports such as windsurfing and parasailing are popular especially in North Goa. Dolphin Watching trips by boat are possible from October to late May. There are day excursions to the lush forests bordering Karnataka and the Western Ghats visiting Dudhsagar Waterfalls.
